MACEO AND RABI JOIN GOMEZ. Eastern Insurgents Unite With th

General Jose Maceo and his chief lie tenant, General Rabi, according to latest advices received from Cuba, have succeed ed, after three weeks of forced marches starting from the extreme eastern end of the Island of Cuba, in effecting a junction with General Maximo Gomez's force in the province of Matanzas.

Forces of Gomez.

About January 16 Generals Maceo and Rabi started on the march of 600 miles. With them were 2,000 of the best me doing service for the cause of Cuba. Nearly all were mounted on good horses, but what was far more important to them was the great quantity of arms and ammunition which they carried with them. Eyer since Generals Antonio Maceo and Gomez have been keeping the Spanlards busy in Pinar del Rio and Havana, General Jose Maceo has been aiding expeditions to land in Santiaco de Cuba. The result has been that tiago de Cuba. The result has been the in the last two months there have beer over 10,000 stands of arms and great quan tities of ammunition and some artiller; Arms for Gomez. To get these arms and ammunition to General Gomez was by far the most important object of this march. The Spanlards were well aware of the value of what

General Maceo had with him, and they made every effort to capture his baggage At Puerto Principe he broke through the Spanish lines, and the Spanish officers did not know where he was until he had gone. Rapidly he moved through the province of Puerto Principe. The people all along the line gave him an enthusiastic welcome and many joined his forces. His supply of arms enabled him to equip these men, and as nearly all these men had horses the were organized as cavalry. Finally, by brilliant marches and breaking through the Spanish lines, the leader reached Limonre in the province of Malayzas, on Monday, January 20, with a force of nearly 5,000 He could have taken twice that number with him, it is stated, had he not been required to reserve the greater part of his supplies for General Gomez. The forces of General Gomez, simultaneous with the ar-rival of General Maceo in Matanzas, started to meet him, and it is now stated they have met and united their armies. The march of 600 miles has been made in less than three weeks, and for a greater portion of the march the Spaniards have tried their utmost to harass the insurgents.

The Fighting. During the march the greater part of the fighting has depended upon General Rabi, General Maceo seeing that the baggage train got through safely. On more than a dozen occasions the Spaniards have announced that Generals Rabi and Maceo were separated, and only yesterday Minwere separated, and only yesterday Min-ister Dupuy de Lome announced that Macco was not in Matanzas. General Rabi, ac-cording to Madrid advices, has been de-clared to have been wounded. The especial significance of the success of General Maceo's march is the aid he will render General Gomez in equipping new re-cruits. At this time, when so many men are leaving the cities on account of the fear of General Weyler, the arms come in good season, as these refugees can at once

A CLAIM OF BRICKLAYERS. A Labor Trouble Due to the Disappearance of a Subcontractor. There is considerable anxiety on the par of a number of bricklayers who were employed on a row of houses on E street near Providence Hospital as to whether or not they are to be paid for two weeks' work done on them, and for which it is said they have not received any money.

The houses in question were being erected by Mr. Charles H. Ruth, a well-known contractor, who had as a subcontractor a Mr. Hanback, who employed the brick-layers. Hanback, as stated in The Star at the time of its occurrence, disappeared several weeks ago, leaving, it is said, a large force of bricklayers unpaid. The latter called in a body on the hondered ter called in a body on the bondsman for Hanback, a prominent business man, and demanded that he make the amount good. While he admitted the men ought to be paid their wages, he said he could do nothing until the proper proceedings in court were had, so that he would be legally pro-

The men were satisfied with this for the time being, but work was not resumed on the buildings and the owners asked Mr. Ruth to complete them. This the latter de-Ruth to complete them. This the latter decided to do, and took up the contract where it had been abandoned by Hanback.

The matter was in due course reported to the Bricklayers' Union, and that body at its last meeting decided that the mcn employed by Hanback must be paid before work on the buildings could be further carried on, and ordered a boycott on the structures until the men get their wages for that work. It is stated that Mr. Ruth has always employed union men, and efforts

THE GRIDIRON CLUB

Its Eleventh Annual Dinner Was Perhaps Its Greatest Success.

Witty and Eloquent Speeches and Lots of Fun - Many Distiniron Club at the Arlington Saturday evenng was perhaps the greatest success of all the dinners given by this famous organization. The decorations, the menu and the menu cards were all on a most elaborate scale, but these, attractive as they were,

constituted but a small part of the reasons for the evening's enjoyment. There were speeches, witty and eloquent, which, were it not for the rule of the club that forbids their being made public, would be well worth recording in full, and there were all sorts of amusing incidents carried out by bright members of the club for the delectation of the guests. For instance, the Schomburgk line was discovered and car-Schomburgk line was discovered and carried into the banquet hall on the shoulders of two of the senior members of the club. When it was found that the line was an enormous piece of silk elastic, such as is used by ladies to keep their hosiery in place; and was consequently anything but a fixed boundary and capable of being twisted and stretched at pieasure, the point of the joke was evident, and fun ran fast and furious. There were "fake" dispatches from the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Treasury anent the possibilities of war and the condition of the gold reserve.

New Members Initiated. Mr. William E. Annin was formally installed as the president of the club, and two new members were initiated with amusing ceremonies, Mr. Frank A. Richardson of the Baltimore Sun and Mr. Jas. Henry of the Pittsburg Dispatch. The initiation took the form of a contest between two make-believe representatives-elect, and two make-believe representatives-elect, and after a lot of funny speeches, which brought out the qualifications of the two candidates and their many defects, it was decided that Mr. Richardson was entitled to Mr. Henry's seat, and Mr. Henry to Mr. Richardson's. So the fun went until midnight broke up the party.

Yet all was not mirth, for during the year two of the club's best beloved members have passed away, Mr. E. B. Wight and Mr. George H. Apperson. A tender and beautiful tribute to their memory was paid in a speech by Maor John M. Carson.

paid in a speech by Maor John M. Carson.

The pleasure of the evening was greatly enhanced by the music, which was furnished by the Gridiron Quartet, and solos by Mr. Herndon Morseil, Mr. J. H. Kaiser and Mr. Herndon Morsell, Mr. J. H. Kalser and Mr. A. J. Stofer. Mr. Chauncey M. Depew came on from New York to be present at the dinner, and it is only necessary to state that he was called upon twice during the evening to speak as only "Chauncey depeach" can speak, in order that one may know that there was plenty of wit and eloquence. But he was not the only good speaker, for bright remarks were also had from Mr. Frank Thompson, Paymaster General Stanton, Gen. Nelson A. Miles, Rear Admiral Benham, Justice Brown, Postmaster General Wilson, Gen. Felix Agnus, H. H. Kohlsaat, F. Willis Rice, secretary of the Feliowship Club of Chicago; ex-Gov. Alexander R. Shepherd, Chas. go; ex-Gov. Alexander R. Shepherd, Chas Emory Smith, Col. William G. Moore, Senator Thurston and others. Mr. Annin, the new president of the club, proved his capacity to take the front rank in the long line of brilliant and capable occupants of the Gridiron chair. Among the bright incidents of the evening was the witty and felicitous address of the retiring president, Mr. Walter B. Stevens, introducing his successor, and the exceedingly happy response of Mr. Annin. Present Organization and Member-

A Touching Incident.

A beautiful and touching feature was the allusion to the death of Messrs. E. B. Wight and George H. Apperson. It was the universal opinion that this delicate matter was handled with good taste and judgment. and the success with which it was carried out is attested by the deep impression made vised by the committee on entertainment, and its explanation and development as signed to Major Carson. The details were known only to those charged with their management. President Annin announced that the club semetimes, in the midst of jollity, became serious. One of those serious periods now confronted the club, and Major Carson was called out to give it fulfillment. The introduction of the Schom burgk line prepared the assembly for some hing in the nature of a surprise, and when thing in the nature of a surprise, and when all the lights were suddenly extinguished expectation rose to a high point. There were a few moments of silence, that was made the more impressive by contrast with the scenes of jollity that had preceded.

The few candelabra used to ornament the main table were permitted to burn, and these shed a dim religious light through the large hall that gave the tables the an large hall that gave the tables the ap-pearance of being occupied by specters, and the long shadows reflected and the slience prevailing made a tableau that was beau-tiful in its solemnity.

Major Carson, in well-modulated tones, began an oration by saying: "The Gridiron Club was formed for festivity and fun; for relaxation and recreation; for the promo-tion of good fellowship among men engaged in the daily activities of life." From this, in beautiful language, he led up to the announcement of the passing of Eugene B. Wight and George H. Apperson, and paid them a tribute which was so touching and emotional that tears were forced from the eyes of the revelers. A plano accompaniment, arranged and played by Mr. Henry Xander in soft murmuring tones, added to the effectiveness of the oration, which consumed only six minutes arrangements were made for displaying, with the aid of a magic lantern, the porwith the aid of a magic lantern, the por-traits of Wight and Apperson. These were thrown on the canvas at the appropriate place in Major Carson's speech.

In concluding, Major Carson explained that the pictures displayed were made by Mr. Wight, and that at the time of his death he was engaged in a photographic work intended to be used at the dinner on Saturday night. He further explained on Saturday night. He further explained that at all club dinners Mr. Apperson's voice was always heard in club songs and choruses, and that his favorite song, in the singing of which he always led, was— Then the Gridiron Quartet came in slow-ly and softly with "Don't You Hear Them Bells?" When one stanza had been thus rendered by the quartet the lights suddenly flashed up, the quartet the lights suddenly flashed up, the music sounded in loud tones, and taking up the chorus the entire club joined in, and it was given with the same vigor that marked it under the leadership of Apperson. Thus the incident passed off Petitioning for Prohibition. The Woman's Christian Temperance Union of the District of Columbia has prepared a unique petition, which will be presented to Congress tomorrow. The text of the petition is as follows:

"We, the undersigned citizens of the District of Columbia, feeling and deeply deploring the curse of the liquor traffic, respectfully petition your honorable bodies to enact a law prohibiting the manufac-ture and sale of all alcoholic beverages in the District of Columbia." The petition is signed by pastors and officers of churches only, yet the roll is a large one, as the activity of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union has secured the signatures of the pastors and officers of all of the Methodist, Baptist, Congregational, Friends, United Brethren and Christian churches in the capital city. For instance, the page devoted to the Calvary Baptist Church covers less than one foot of space, but represents a merubership of 1,300. There are also petitions from the pastors of the Unitarian, the Universalist, pastors of the charles, the churches and the Episcopal and Lutheran churches and petitions from sixteen Presbyterian churches, both pastors and officers. This

The presentation will take place in the Senate at 12 o'clock sharp. Michiganders to Dine. The Michigan State Association will celebrate the fifty-ninth anniversary of the ad-
